

ATFA TECHNICAL EXPERT FOR A DAY

For over 15 years, ATFA has been delivering world-class technical training to members throughout Australasia. Over the same period, we've had requests from companies to conduct in-house training events and expertise for staff which are customised to the enterprise's business operations and, as a result of the numbers attending, highly cost effective.

Our experts included leaders in the fields of coatings, adhesives, installation, sand and finish.

Technical experts:

- David Hayward (Only for Platinum, Gold & Silver members)
- Tony Powell (Solid Timber Flooring Installation, Sub-floor Preparation & Sand and Finish)
- Phil Buckley (Engineered & Hybrid Flooring Installation & Sand and Finish)
- Phil Holgate (Coatings Specialist)

You can choose from two levels depending upon your business structure and needs:

OPTION 1: An existing ATFA program selected from our current Training Program Schedule
Cost - $2200 per delivery day plus travel costs and program notes, where applicable.

Please note, this excludes venue and catering costs which would normally be organised by the host business.

OPTION 2: Customisation of an existing ATFA program or provision of technical expertise, by incorporation of company products and policies, and responds to any specialised training needs or technical advice you may be seeking - see the Training Program Schedule as a basis for determining what might suit your needs or simply outline your technical requirements.
Cost - $2200 per delivery day + customisation or preparation fees (to be quoted), travel costs (where applicable) and program notes.

Please note, this excludes venue and catering costs which would normally be organised by the host business.

COST EFFECTIVE

Hosting up to 20 employees, ATFA in-house services offers exceptional value for money per person and also limits the time employees are away from the business given we come to your doorstep.

CUSTOMISED

The ability to customise the training or service means it's 100% relevant to your business and that new skills and knowledge can be applied the very next day and make an immediate improvement to productivity and profitability.

CONSISTENT QUALITY

Being able to put through large numbers means that all your staff or all employees in a particular area of the business will be operating to consistent standards and with the skills needed to drive efficiencies and lift productivity.

FLEXIBLE

We work to your schedule so you tell us when and where you want to hold the training program.
